supplementary questions, the member is not able to answer without reference to another departmental head. This sort of thing should be put a stop to.

PRESIDENT: How? How is Mr. Narayanan Tampi to foresee what supplemental question Mr. Sankaranarayanan Tampi is going to ask and get the necessary information from the Public Service Commissioner and be ready for the reply? All that he can do, and I am sure he will do, is to get the information and supply it to the member.

MR. S. SANKARANARAYANAN TAMPI: This is a question which ought to be answered by the Public Service Commissioner.

PRESIDENT: As a matter of fact, how can it be? The minimum qualifications for appointment as a Drawing-master is a question which Mr. Narayanan Tampi can answer. Whether there are such qualified candidates in the Paraya community is a matter which neither the Public Service Commissioner nor the Director of Public Instruction can answer because the qualified candidates may or may not apply. Normally the answer should have been "the question is vague and cannot be answered." Instead of that the answer is 'Yes.'

MR. S. SANKARANARAYANAN TAMPI: May I know by whom the appointments are made.

PRESIDENT: The appointments are made by Mr. Tampi on the recommendation of the Public Service Commissioner. So he is the proper man to answer the question. Mr. Tampi, what is your difficulty?

MR. A. NARAYANAN TAMPI: Advice is given whenever I ask for a candidate and I make the appointment. After 1117 no necessity arose and so I have not asked for advice being tendered.
